Call for Exhibitions

RTSI 2015 intends to exhibit a range of research experiences, illustrating the opportunities for society and industry. For this reason, RTSI 2015 will host an exhibition of research projects and their results, dedicated to universities, research institutes and spin-offs. The exhibition is an essential part of the conference technical program and aims to showcase research projects and their applications. The exhibition relates to all the topics of the forum, including the latest developments in the areas of electrical, electronic and information science engineering.

Potential exhibitors are encouraged to present the implications and results of their research in terms of components, systems, equipment, hardware or software tools. The exhibition is intended to show the practical relevance of research activity and highlight the possible impact of scientific and technological innovation on society.

A stand (see the picture below) will be available for each exhibitor, providing an excellent platform to display research products and deliver inspirational practical demonstrations or presentations.

In their application, interested exhibitors are invited to include a short description of the research activity that has led to the development of the presented products. In particular, they are encouraged to make reference to the national/international projects or the scientific publications that are directly related to the innovative products. Spin-offs are required to add a short description of the research group that promoted them.

Potential exhibitors are invited to apply for an exhibition stand by completing a single PDF file application according to the following structure (no more than 300 words per item):

1) Short description of the presented research product, possibly including a photo.

2) Short description of the research activity that has led to the development of the presented products.

3) For spin-offs only: a short description of the research group that promoted them.

4) Short CV for each applicant.

5) Contact details (E-mail, Telephone and Address)

Exhibitors will have their stand available for two days at the cost of a full-fee conference registration (380 €). The registration fee also provides the opportunity to present an accepted scientific paper.

The application document should be submitted via email to the exhibition chair at the following address: paolo.pegoraro@diee.unica.it.

Exhibitions from Industrial Sponsors are also welcome. At least a Bronze level sponsorship is required.

The deadline for submissions is 30 June 2015. Accepted exhibitions will be notified by 10 July 2015.
